

Jayne Drake is an Associate Professor of English, the Vice Dean for Academic Affairs, and the Director of the Master of Liberal Arts Program in the College of Liberal Arts at Temple University in Philadelphia, PA. As Vice Dean she is responsible for all academic matters, student services, programs, advising, and curricular initiatives for the College's nearly 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Jayne is a "lifer" at Temple and has served in a number of administrative posts over the years, including Director of Academic Advising, Associate Dean of the Graduate School, Associate Dean for Student Services, and the Director of the Teaching Improvement Center, to name a few. She is passionate about both her undergraduate and graduate students and has been publicly acknowledged for outstanding teaching and advising, the most recent recognitions being the College of Liberal Arts "Excellence in Teaching" Award and Temple University's "Faculty Advisor of the Year" Award. Last year, she was also honored to be named Kansas State University's Distinguished Lecturer for 2008.

As a member of NACADA, she currently sits on the Board of Directors, serves as Chair of the Council, and is the Vice President of the Association. As a member of the NACADA Academic Advising Consultants and Speakers Service, Jayne travels nationally and internationally to provide keynote addresses and conduct workshops on a number of advising-related topics, and she serves as a consultant and reviewer to a number of universities regarding the development and reorganization of advising services. She also chairs the Association's Video Advisory Board that produced NACADA's new Advisor Training Program entitled "Scenes for Learning and Reflection."

Jayne earned her Ph.D. in English at The Pennsylvania State University. Her teaching and publication interests include seventeenth- through nineteenth-century American literature, the history of printing and publishing in America, and literary research methods. She has published numerous articles and reviews in these fields and written books on American Literary Periodicals and John Greenleaf Whittier. In a past life, she also served as an editor for the Modern Language Association's Annual International Bibliography.