

Third Annual Personal Tutoring and Academic Advising Conference:
An International Perspective

Thursday 3 May 2007 – The John McIntyre Centre,
The University of Edinburgh

This third conference is co-sponsored by the US-based National Academic Advising Association (NACADA) and organised jointly by the Universities of Westminster, Southampton Solent, and the London College of Communications

Draft programme

09:30 Registration & Setting up of Posters

10:00 Welcome & Introduction
Professor Van Heyningen, University of Edinburgh

Morning Theme: Challenges & International Perspectives

10:10 Keynote: Dr. Susan Campbell, Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs, The University of Southern Maine & President of NACADA.

10:40 Parallel Sessions (max 4: papers or workshops)
Themes to be announced

11:40 Coffee

12:00 Parallel Sessions (max 4: papers or workshops)
(Noon) Themes to be announced

1:00 Lunch & Viewing Posters

Afternoon Theme: International Perspectives on Personal Tutoring

2:00 Professional Panel: What does Personal Tutoring/Academic Advising Mean to You?
A panel of four professionals from UK personal tutoring, NACADA, university management and student services will make brief presentations.

2:20 Buzz Groups & Questions
Discussion & formulation of group questions for the panel until 15.00

2:40 Student Panel: What does Personal Tutoring/Academic Advising Mean to You?
A panel of students will present student perspectives

3:00 Panels return to answer Buzz Group Questions

3:40 Concluding Remarks
Dr. Paula Hixenbaugh, University of Westminster

4:00 Close with Tea & Coffee