Do your students fret about future career plans? Not sure where to start? Don’t just refer them to a career center; come to our session first! This interactive presentation will provide you with an overview of models that integrate career and academic advising and allow you to explore what might work best on your campus through brainstorming new ideas, group discussion, and reflective exercises. Based on research and practice, we will show you how a large campus has come together to create consistency and break down this intricate topic into manageable pieces for advisors. You will walk away with an activity to implement with your advisees and an advisor training plan for your campus. Join us to develop an exciting new skill!
