YOURS, MINE & OURS: COLLABORATION IN THE WORLD OF ADVISING

REGION 6 ANNUAL CONFERENCE INFORMATION BROCHURE

MAY 12-14, 2010

LINCOLN, NE

NACADA

NATIONAL ACADEMIC ADVISING ASSOCIATION

Pre-Conference Speaker

Josh Nichols
Student Support Specialist
TRIO Student Support Services
Dickinson State University

Being a member of Generation Y and having completed his undergraduate studies in computer science, Josh Nichols is no stranger to the use of technology. As a student at Dickinson State University, he held many leadership positions. Those opportunities, coupled with his participation in the university's Student Support Services (SSS) program, fostered his interest in the world of higher education. Today, as an SSS staff member, he notices the day to day difficulties that his campus and program face while trying to connect with the next generation. He also witnesses a growing hesitancy of many staff and faculty members to move forward with the use of new technologies. Josh has a vested interest in bridging the generational divide through the effective use of technology and hopes to share his knowledge with other higher education professionals.

Keynote Speaker

Aaron Davis has been privileged to talk to over a million people, inspiring and motivating them professionally and personally. As a member of the 1994 National Championship Nebraska football team Aaron has firsthand experience as a student and a student athlete. These experiences, along with being a mentor/adviser, help him to identify with student clientele in higher education and make him uniquely qualified to speak to both students and higher education professionals about the possibility of human potential.

Aaron's unique approach helps higher education professionals think about how they might challenge students to THINK about the impact of their choices. Aaron's speaking style and powerful message connects and energizes his audience, providing them with tools to use as they pursue their career objectives of helping students reach their potential and achieve their goals.
