

Intersections of Academic and Student Affairs:
Partners in Student Success and Retention

A Drive-In Conference sponsored by the Commission for Academic Affairs – ACPA, NACADA Region 1 and NECPA

Bentley University
Student Center, Back Bay Rooms
Waltham, MA
Friday, March 1, 2019

On March 1, 2019, student and academic affairs administrators will gather at Bentley University in Waltham MA, just outside of Boston, to examine partnerships that transcend traditional boundaries to further student success. This conversation provides an opportunity to discuss impactful programming with colleagues you might not typically interact with at your home institution. Topics to be discussed include applying student development theory in academic affairs, student retention, using predictive analytics, building relationships with colleagues “across the aisle” and successful collaborations.

The program includes a plenary session, a panel presentation and concurrent sessions in which participants will have the opportunity to explore how they can utilize campus partnerships to impact important campus issues.

Intersections of Academic and Student Affairs: Partners in Student Success continues the conversation started by ACPA’s 2017 publication: Student Affairs for Academic Administrators, Dr. T. Lynn Hogan, editor. This drive-in is an opportunity for practitioners in student and academic affairs to explore techniques to put theory into practice for the betterment of students and our institutions.

Agenda

9:00-9:30	Registration and coffee
9:30-10:45	Applying Student Development Theory to the Classroom with Ellen Broido, PhD

Ellen is a nationally recognized student development scholar and active member of ACPA

<https://www.bgsu.edu/education-and-human-development/departments-of-higher-education-and-student-affairs/faculty/ellen-m-broido.html> and <http://www.myacpa.org/ellen-broido-biography> .

11:00-12:00

Crossing the Aisle between Student and Academic Affairs.

Panel presentation with Q&A

This panel features practitioners who have worked in both student and academic affairs during their career paths.

Moderator: T. Lynn Hogan, PhD, Director of Critical Thinking Initiatives and Quality Enhancement Reviews at Florida State University

Panelists:

- Ceceilia Parnther, PhD, Faculty Member, Higher Education and Student Affairs, St. Johns Univeristy, New York
- Gavin Henning, PhD, Professor, Higher Education, New England College; Past President of ACPA
- Kevin Piskadlo, Ph.D, Associate Vice President of Student Affairs, Stonehill College

12:00-12:45

Networking Lunch – lunch included in registration fee

1:00-2:00

Choice of three sessions including:

- Using Predictive Analytics in Student Retention
- New Student Orientation: Combining Academic and Student Life Initiatives
- Welcome back! Supporting students returning from a leave

2:00-3:00

Repeat breakout sessions

Registration cost: $40.00

Parking is Free!

Details regarding parking will be emailed to those registered one week prior to the Drive-In