Ok – Now What?

Now is the time to take back all you learned and put it into practice on your campus - the most important thing is that you continue to move forward. In this plenary we will talk about implementation, timelines, change and sustainability as well as outline strategies for communicating your results to stakeholders and the profession. We will discuss opportunities for how you can utilize your assessment plan and outcomes to conduct research and publish your work. The session will include time to think through your next steps and hear what others have accomplished during the institute. We will conclude this session with a celebration of your participation at the 2017 Assessment Institute.

Session Outcomes – you will learn:
- Strategies for implementation and sustainability of your plan
- To develop a timeline for the next steps of your assessment process
- Methods of communicating your assessment results

Selected References

